M. M. Estee Confirmed as Federal Judge.

IS U. S. MARSHAL

Haywood for Collector of Internal Revenue and John C. Baird

District Attorney.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The President to-day sent to the Senate the following nominations for Hawaiian offices: Morris M. Estee of California to be United States District Judges for the Territory of Hawaii; John C. Baird of Wyoming to be United States District Attorney of Hawaii; John C. Baird of Wyoming to be United States District Attorney of Hawaii; John C. Baird of Hawaii.

San FRANCISCO, May 6.—The news of Morris M. Estee's nomination as United States Judge for Hawaii soon spread among his friends in this city yesterday and his office was besieged with well-wishers during the afternoon. At the Union League Club he was the lion of the hour at luncheon time. While perfectly willing to discuss the duties of the office to which he had been nominated, Mr. Estee had nothing to say for publication as to his plans for the future. It is understood, however, that he will at once commence preparations for his known of the hour at luncheon time. While perfectly willing to discuss the duties of the office to which he had been nominated, Mr. Estee had nothing to say for publication as to his plans for the future. It is understood, however, that he will at once commence preparations for his provided his nomination is confirmed by the Senate.

Unlike most District Judgeships, that of Hawaii combines the duties of both tunied States District and Circuit Courts, probably on account of its isolation, appeals thereform being heard in the Circuit Court of Appeals for this district, of which it is a part. While the next session of the Hawaiin Court under ordinary circumstances will not be held until October, Judge Estee may at his discretion hold extra sessions whenever he thinks it necessary, and his discretion hold extra sessions whenever he thinks it necessary, and his discretion hold extra sessions whenever he thinks it necessary, and his discretion hold extra sessions whenever he thinks it necessary, and his discretion h whenever he thinks it necessary, and his friends say that he will not delay making himself familiar with affairs in his new district longer than is neces-

Estee needs no introduction to the people of California, as he is one of the best known men in the State. His career exemplifies what can be accomplished by pluck, energy and self-replished by pluck, energy and self-reliance. He was born in Freehold, Warren county, Pa., on November 10, 1834.
His father, Ansel Estee, a native of Kuffalo, N. Y., was a well-to-do farmer of the time-honored Eastern type.
There were nine children in his family and Morris was the eldest, His ambitilons were beyond the limits of his father's farm, and after spending two years at the Wakerford Academy of Eric county he resolved to strike out alone in quest of fortune. At the age of 29 he came to California and at once went to the El Dorado county gold mines, where he spent two years, While a miner he was still a student, and he soon learned that the way to success

He then took up the study of law, and after some experience in different law offices he was admitted to practice in 1859. He opened an office at Sacrament to. In 1863 he was elected to the lower house of the State Legislature, and his work during that session was recognized by the people of Sacramento by his election to the office of District Attorney, which he held until 1866.

In 1858 Estee came to San Francisco, in 1871 he made himself felt politically by his fight for Booth for Governor. After the latter's nomination he was made secretary of the State Republican Sentral Committee in which position of the effective force in the Philipping.

He was sent to the Assembly again in 1875 and was made Speaker of the House. At the conclusion of the session he returned here and resumed the practice of his profession. In 1880 he was selected as profession. In 1880 he was selected as one of the fifteen freeholders to frame a new city charter. He was chosen by the Republican Convention as a candidate for Governor in 1882, but was defeated by Stoneman. Again in 1894 he received the same honor, but was defeated by Budd. In 1888 he was chairman of the California delegation to the Republican National Convention at Chicago.

Mr. Estee is a thoroughly represen-tative man, for not only has he been a farmer, miner and lawyer, but he is considerable of a horticulturist and viticulturist. He was at one time president of the Horticultural Society. He has an extensive vineyard in Napa, and the hospitality of his home is known for miles around. He was a member of the Pan-American congress, and there are no questions of the day touching the interests of California or the United States with which he is not thoroughly familiar and upon which he has not been heard. Mr. Estee was married in 1863 to Miss Frances Divine, a daughter of Judge Davis Divine of San Jose. He has two children living.

THE STUFF THAT DREAMS ARE MADE DF, DUMPED IN THE CRADLE OF THE DEEP

Many anxious wrinkles on the brows of stem customs officials were smoothed out yesterday when 3,254 tins of opium were taken out of the vaults of the custom house, towed out to sea, hacked open with hatchets and axes and dumped ruthlessly into the bosom of the receptive deep.

No more the imported burglars and crib-crackers from the Coast lurk in the shadows of the big stone, prisonlike building on Fort street, planning a capture of the valuable dope. Father Neptune has it now and will never give it up. Many and wonderful should be the dreams of the ocean after the little dose of dream-drug it received yesterday at the hands of the Board of Health.

The "stuff that dreams are made of"—Shakespeare is not known ever to have "hit the pipe"—has found a watery grave. The treasure which has for so long a time reposed in the dark, spidery dungeons of the custom house is now food for the fishes, and the big and little fishes of the sea, one and all, held a grand feast last night, some of them being affected very queerly by the seductive dope. Opium-loving Orientals are expected to make a descent upon the Fishmarket for the next few days to procure dope-flavored fishes for their tables.

Those who engaged in the work of dumping the dope were Dr. Garyin, the executive officer of the Board of Health; Dr. Pratt, city sanitary officer: Samuel Johnson and F. T. Neeley and W. H. Drummond, assisted by several workmen. The opium was tallied and carefully looked out for from the time it was removed from the custom house vaults until it was spilled into the sea three miles out from shore. The time were thrown into a wagon at the custom house and a big load they made, too.

As the dope was taken out to sea, a lean, long, lanky individual, whose trousers bagged badly at the knees, stood at the edge of a wharf muttering audibly to himself. He wore a big black slouch hat down over his eyes and was smoking a spluttering storey, chewing the end angrily. "What's the matter?" inquired a customs inspector, approaching the stranger sympath
